Autumn Season: 6 Days 5 Nights Tour

DAY 1 Our journey kicks off from Taipei as we head to the old streets of Jiufen. Once an important hub of the coal-mining industry in Taiwan, this tourist attraction is now revived with a plethora of tea houses, gift shops, and specialty snacks for you to peruse. As noon draws near, we're off to taste the an assortment of seasonal seafood for lunch. Once our hungers have been replenished, we will head to the vibrant city of Taichung for the night.

Slopes of Jiufen Old Street

DAY 2 On the second day, we will visit the celebrated Sun Moon Lake. As an added bonus, the picturesque Hsinshu Sea of Flowers along the way will definitely take your breathe away with its sheer natural beauty. We'll arrive at Xitou before night, and you will get a chance to join in the revelry at the Monster Village, a light-hearted outdoor fair that is enjoyed by adults and children alike.

Xitou Monster Village

DAY 3 After a good night's rest, we will head to Tainan and visit the sites left by early Dutch settlers.

Fort Zeelandia, Tainan

The unique architecture of old forts have been well-preserved throughout the years, and is an integral part of Taiwan's colonial history. Of course, one cannot visit Tainan without sampling its renowned local cuisine. As a representative faction of authentic Taiwanese gastronomy, the food in Tainan is relatively modest in price and ingredient, yet packs a remarkably flavorful punch sure to leave an imprint on your taste buds.

Dragon & Tiger Pagodas, Lotus Pond

DAY 4 As the second-largest city in Taiwan, Kaohsiung has been undergoing a renaissance as of late. With efforts to boost the city's international standings, Kaohsiung has been stepping up its effort on all fronts and was even voted as one the top cities for living in the world. Here, you can be serenaded by live bands playing by riverfront cafes, take a ferry ride through the romantic Love River, or simply observe the exquisite sunset of Xiziwan. No matter what you do, its certain to be a memorable experience reminiscent of a scene straight out of the movies.

DAY 5 Our Southbound journey concludes on this day, as we make our way back to Taipei City. You will get to experience the marvels of modern transportation as we board the high speed rail on a charming ride through Taiwan. Once we arrive, we will enjoy lunch before paying a visit to Chiang Kai Shek Memorial Hall and Taipei 101 Building, two of the most notable landmarks in Taiwan. For the night, we'll stay at a hot spring resort, where you can soak in naturally (volcano) heated spring water said to possess mysterious healing properties that will dissolve your weariness away.

Changing of Guards at CKS Memorial

DAY 6 On the last day, you will get a chance to participate in making your own moon cake, a staple of the Mid-Autumn festival. For those lucky enough to come during the Jinshan Sweet Potato Festival, you will also enjoy building your own underground fire pit to roast sweet, tangy yams harvested straight from the ground. Our last stop is at Yangmingshan National Park, where auburn leaves envelope the land to proclaim the changing of seasons and prepare for the incumbent Winter to follow.
